Two Travaglia's and a Lamb

For the first time in their illustrious careers. Stain Glass artist Maya Travaglia, accompanied by her artist parents, Sheila Lamb & Carlo Travaglia. will be showing their art work together.

The exhibition will take place at “The Mills at Salmon Falls”, Rollinsford, N.H. on Nov. 21st & 22nd from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Carlo Travaglia & Sheila Lamb met and married while they were students at the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts in Philadelphia, PA. and later went on to teach art at the Dalton School in NYC. As a Dalton student, Maya was taught by both of her parents and later went on to continue her art training at Pratt Institute in Brooklyn, N.Y.

Sheila Lamb’s artwork encompasses various forms of printmaking and watercolors, while Carlo Travaglia continues in the field of sculpture. Both have shown their work widely and are represented in major collections and museums.

The artistic passions of her parents instilled in Maya a deep love of art and nurtured her talents and artistry; however, that same sustenance also has made it possible for Maya to find her own ways of expressing her vast and varied talents.

Maya Travaglia now lives in South Berwick, Maine and works in her studio a short distance away in Rollingford, New Hampshire.
